Ninjago season 13 episode 3

View source Share Dungeon Crawl! is the tenth episode of the thirteenth season of Ninjago and the 154th episode overall. It aired first in English on July 16, 2020, in Australia. It aired in the US on October 11, 2020, paired up with "Dungeon Party!". Synopsis Having joined forces with the Lowly in their quest to defeat King Vangelis, Cole, Wu, and Vania have to find a way out of the bottom of the mountain, a place said to be inescapable.[1] Cartoon Network Asia: Cole leads the Lowly and Princess Vania and Wu in a series of fruitless efforts to find a way out of Rock-Bottom.[2] Extended: Cole leads the Lowly and Princess Vania and Wu in a series of fruitless efforts to find a way out of Rock-Bottom. Wu tells Cole about a legendary Temple of Earth Elementals known as the Heart of the Mountain. Surmising that the Temple is actually real, Wu guesses that it might be hidden in Shintaro Mountain and urges Cole to try and tap into his elemental powers to find a way out.[3] Plot In a flashback, Lou brings Cole to Lilly's bedroom, who is very ill. Cole hugs her mother and wishes she wasn't sick anymore. Lilly then asks why Cole got in trouble at school, and Cole explains that a bully was picking on the little kids, and Cole wanted to stand up for what was right. He then apologizes for getting into a fight with the bully, but Lilly is proud of her son and tells Cole to always stand up to those who are cruel and unjust. Back at the present, the Upply, Cole, Wu, and Vania explore the caves. Plundar complains about the fact they've already explored the area many times, but Fungus tells Plundar that it doesn't hurt to explore it again. They end up reaching a dead end, so they head back. Once again, Plundar complains about walking so much that Vania argues that Cole is actually trying to help. They head back to Rock-Bottom, where Cole's frustration for not finding a way out causes him to get upset. Wu poses a question to Cole, and he talks about feeling his mother's presence ever since discovering the necklace. He then questions why her mother would ever be down here. Wu tells Cole that Lilly was even more powerful due to being the closest to the Earth, and instead of the Skull Sorcerer trying to bury Cole as deep as possible, Cole has the possibility to find his true Elemental Powers. This gives inspiration to Cole, who tries to find his true powers. Cole concentrates and his hands begin to glow. Suddenly, the immense rocks start to float and Cole uses a robust Earth Punch to discover a hidden cave underwater. Everyone follows Cole's lead as they swim inside the cave. While swimming, Cole helps out Vania who gets scared because of a skeleton, and Wu when a rock lands on him. Despite the trouble, everyone makes it out alive. The Upply, Cole, Wu, and Vania then encounter a lava pond and three tunnels at the end. Wu instructs Cole to touch the ground and the Earth reveals the tunnel across the lava is the correct path. As usual, Plundar complains about having to cross through lava, and Cole isn't happier with the option, but it's the only way. Concurrently, Korgran claims he drinks lava for breakfast and scoops up lava with his cup, but Plundar corrects him by saying he drinks juice. Suddenly, the mug catches fire and Plundar gets scared of the lava. Cole reminds his team what they are here to seek which is to stop the Skull Sorcerer and save everyone underground. He asks Plundar what he's going to do, so he rolls his dice which forces him to take a chance along with everyone else. While everyone else is crossing the lava with the provided rocks, Adam uses the ceiling to get through. Before they could cross to the other side, Cole senses danger which proves to be correct when the Lava Monster rises from the lava. Its tentacles attack the group, so Korgran uses his ax to cut the tentacles, but the Lava Monster grows more in replacement. Cole then uses his upgraded Elemental Powers to move rocks and use them to attack the Magma Monster. He also orders Wu to deflect the lava balls from the Lava Monster and for Fungus to distract the beast with his Ice magic. Finally, he instructs Plundar to get a boulder that Adam climbs for. The Lava Monster attempts to burn Plundar, but Fungus uses his magic to freeze the monster. Adam then pushes the boulder and huge rock lands on the Lava Monster causing it to sink. Safe from danger, Cole utilizes the robust Earth Punch to block the path just in case the Magma Monster decides to return. As Cole is leading, Plundar approaches Cole and apologizes to him for being so harsh. Cole accepts the apology, but the group knows they have a long task ahead of them. Cast Transcript For the transcript of the episode, click here. Locations featured Trivia Narrator: Cole A dungeon crawl is a type of scenario in fantasy role-playing games in which heroes navigate a labyrinth environment, battling various monsters, avoiding traps, solving puzzles, and looting any treasure they may find. Continuity This marks Lilly's first appearance in-person. This marks the first appearance in-person of Lou since "Pause and Effect." This episode marks Jay, Nya, and Lloyd's longest string of not making appearances, being absent for five straight episodes. In Cole's flashback, two of his child self's drawings have him with a hairstyle more similar to his post-movie design despite Cole not having this hairstyle at the time. His eyebrows also resemble his post-movie design's rather than those of his pre-movie design. Errors When the Magma Monster appears, Cole's scar glows. It would disappear in the next scene. Spiders can't swim, but Adam can somehow swim in underwater. Video Gallery For the gallery of the episode, click here. References Community content is available under CC-BY-SA unless otherwise noted. You can help the wiki by organizing the following information chronologically based on how the information applies to the series. This template can be removed once the section has been organized. Bragi Schut said that he has a "particular soft spot" for writing this season.[9] The ninja and Wu are referred to as heroes on the set boxes (ex: Hero Wu), indicating the name of this season's suits. Four of the sets from Season 13 can be built together to create a board game. The ninja have armor similar to medieval knights over their Secrets of the Forbidden Spinjitzu suits, aside from Lloyd who has a completely new gi underneath the armor. This is the third season in a row where the ninja use their Secrets of the Forbidden Spinjitzu suits at one point in the season. This is the first season where no wheeled vehicles appear in sets. This is the second season where no flying vehicles appear in sets, the first is Sons of Garmadon. Some sources, such as the Cartoon Network Asia website[10] and LEGO's YouTube channel,[11] claim that Master of the Mountain and Prime Empire are the same season, that being Season 2 of the WildBrain-animated Ninjago series. However, the seasons are two separate "chapters" and are simply combined this way on platforms due to cable networks buying both seasons as one instead of making two separate purchases.[12] Lloyd mentions the Teapot of Tyrahn in the season premiere. However, the events of Skybound were undone, and only Jay and Nya should remember the events of Skybound. This season features the return of 2D animation last seen in "The Last of the Formlings." The animation for the episode "Dungeon Party!" was confirmed by Tommy Andreasen to be inspired by 80's style animation, similar to that of He-Man.[13] As of this season, all of the ninjas' parents have now been revealed. The season bears a strong resemblance to that of Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom, as it was inspired by the film.[14] This season takes place over less than a month, seeing as in The Island, only one month had past between Season 12 and "Uncharted." With this season having only 16 episodes (equal to eight 22-minute episodes), it is as long as Rebooted and Prime Empire. It's also tied as the third shortest season after March of the Oni. It is the second straight season to have sixteen episodes with the previous season beginning the trend. This season marks: The new rendition of The Weekend Whip, titled "The Shintaro Dungeon Whip", was released on July 26, 2020.[15] The Shintaro Dungeon Whip took 21 days to get released after first being heard in "Into the Dark." Since this season, the title card of the first episode of the season always appears above or below the Monastery of Spinjitzu. Amount of times a different character reads a title card: Cole: 6 Gulch: 2 Wu: 2 Zane: 1 Jay: 1 Korgran: 1 Nya: 1 Murtessa: 1 Fungus: 1 Vania: 1 This makes Cole announcing the most amount of title cards while multiple characters are tied for the least with one. Kai and Lloyd are the only ninja to not announce a title card. Gulch and Murtessa said one of the title cards together. According to Tommy Andreasen, Season 13 will feature GIFs, similar to the ones from Season 11 and 12, and bloopers.[16] The blooper reel for this season was the first Ninjago blooper reel since 2017 and the first TV show blooper reel since 2014. Misako's silver streak in her hair appears longer and lighter in this season. In addition, a green tie was added to her french braid. The Postman has a slightly different face print in this season. The season was added onto Netflix in the U.S. and the UK on November 1st, 2020, a week after the season finished airing on Cartoon Network. The season is categorized as the same season as Prime Empire. Both seasons are dubbed as the second season of a separate series simply titled "LEGO Ninjago", which has been continuously separated from Seasons 1-10. This season shares similarities with Tournament of Elements: The ninja and one of their masters are invited to a mysterious and isolated location that is well-regarded in some way (Shintaro is a highly regarded kingdom, while the the Tournament of Elements on Chen's Island promises glory for the winner and Chen is famous for his Noodle House). The ninja make friends with the daughter (Skylor and Vania) of the leader of the place (Chen and Vangelis), who is also the main villain. The ninja learn there is something dark going on under the surface (Chen is stealing everyone's Elemental Powers and forcing them to work in the noodle factory; Vangelis is enslaving the Munce and Geckles in the Mines of Shintaro). Cole is the first ninja to discover and be forced to work in this location. There is also a large reptilian beast (Anacondrai serpent and Grief-Bringer) that lives in the underground tunnels (the underground caverns on Chen’s Island; the Dungeons of Shintaro) and is the "pet" of a sorcerer villain (Clouse and Vangelis). The main villain has personal history with a ninja's parent (Garmadon and Lilly). A new elemental ability is discovered (Elemental Dragons and Spinjitzu Burst). This is the first season whose sets introduce two new types of spinners. This is the last season to air before Kirby Morrow's death on November 18, 2020. Some elements of this season and characters are similar to LEGO's Castle (2007) theme: The main villain is a wizard who has something to do with skulls. The main villain owns a dragon. The wizard's castle or cave has a large skull on the front and a cage on the side. The main villain faction consists of reawakened skeletons (including black ones). Both include green trolls. Both include mines. The sword or swords play a role in the story. At one point, there were ideas to explore the reason for Lilly's illness.[17] Focus characters Protagonists Cole serves as the main focus character of this season. His friendship with Vania can be seen throughout it. Furthermore, his promise to his mother is very vital because it gives him encouragement to persist in tough situations. He was focused on in Episodes 146, 147, 151, 152, 154, 156, 158, 159, and 160. He develops a relationship with Vania, and was the first ninja to discover the Dungeons of Shintaro in Episode 146, but got captured by the Skull Sorcerer. In Episode 147, he builds a relationship with Murt and notices the hatred between the Munce and the Geckles. For most of Episode 151, he fights to stay alive from the Dire Bats and Giant Spiders. He is able to reunite with Vania and Wu, but they all discover Vangelis is the Skull Sorcerer. In Episode 152, Cole's intuition as well as his ability to persevere allowed for himself, Wu, and Vania to stay alive in messy situations. Cole's leadership of the Upply as well as tapping into his Elemental Energy in Episode 154 allows the group to escape Rock-Bottom and defeat the Magma Monster. In addition, his promise to his mother was shown. Cole's frustration of not unlocking the Spinjitzu Burst in Episode 156 causes him to doubt his abilities and is the first real obstacle he has to face during the season. Cole successfully activates the Fire Stone Mech in Episode 158, defeats the Magma Monster, and helps the Upply reach the Kingdom of Shintaro. In Episode 159, he and the Upply save everyone in the Dungeons of Shintaro. Moreover, he finds and uses the Blades of Deliverance against the Skull Sorcerer, where they have an epic battle. Cole continues his battle in Episode 160 where the Skull Sorcerer destroys the Blades of Deliverance. This causes Cole to lose hope but he is ultimately victorious by unlocking the power of the Spinjitzu Burst, thus defeating the Skull Sorcerer and his entire army. Peace is then brought to Shintaro after Cole's victory. Master Wu is another prominent character in this season. He was focused on in Episodes 145, 152, 153, and 156. In Episode 145, Wu was depressed and thought he was no longer needed since the ninja went on missions without him. He was forced on a trip with the ninja after Misako scolded him. In Episode 152, Wu's teaching to Cole allows the Earth Ninja to use his Elemental Powers to save them from disaster. In Episode 153, he talks about Lilly and having greater powers when near the Earth which allows Cole to find his Elemental Energy and escape Rock Bottom. Wu admits forgoing his role as Master and promises to never quit on his students in Episode 156. Vania is a secondary character who also has a prominent role in this season. In Episode 146, she develops a relationship with Cole and they both discover the Dungeons of Shintaro. From Episode 152 to 158, she assists Cole in their quest to escape Rock Bottom and convinces Hailmar about the truth of Vangelis. At the end of Episode 160, she is declared the queen of Shintaro and promises to bring peace to everyone. Kai, Nya, and Zane play somewhat prominent roles in this season. Nya was focused on in Episodes 149 and 155. She fights Murtessa to prevent her from marrying Jay and keeping him betrothed underground in Episode 149. Nya ends up winning but is also declared the Queen of the Munce. In Episode 155, her display of power convinces the Munce to participate in a truce meeting with the Geckles. Kai and Zane were focused on in Episodes 150 and 155. Kai and Zane fought a mino in Episode 150, which gave Kai the title of Chancellor. In Episode 155, they learn that Lilly, Cole’s mother, was the one who defeated Grief-Bringer. With the help of Zane, who helped him by rigging the slug race, Kai was able to lead the truce meeting in Episode 155, where he and Nya were reunited. Lloyd and Jay have minor roles in this season but do play important parts in certain episodes. Lloyd was focused on in Episodes 145 and 146. He realizes that Master Wu felt depressed that he’s not needed anymore and tries to cheer him up in Episode 145. In Episode 146, Lloyd also seems to distrust Vania because of what happened with Harumi. Jay was heavily focused on in Episode 149. He was caught in a rivalry between Nya and Murtessa for his affection. P.I.X.A.L. and Misako also play very minor roles in this season. Both characters appear in only one episode. However, Misako is able to convince Wu into going on the trip with the ninja. Antagonists Vangelis served as the main antagonist of this season. In order to keep the Kingdom of Shintaro, Vangelis used the magic from the Skull of Hazza D'ur to take control of the Dungeons of Shintaro and become the Skull Sorcerer. During his tyranny in the dungeons, he took the Blades of Deliverance from the Geckles and Munce, and force them to mine Vengestone for his customer, who would pay him to keep his kingdom. The Skull of Hazza D'ur served as the secondary antagonist of this season. After the Upply brought the Skull of Hazza D'ur to Vangelis, he used the skull as his source of power to take control of the Dungeons of Shintaro. The Re-Awakened served as the villainous faction of this season. With the power of the Skull of Hazza D'ur, Vangelis brought back the Re-Awakened so they capture the Geckles and Munce and become his army in the Dungeons of Shintaro. Other important antagonists were Grief-Bringer and the Lava Monster. Before the ninja first arrived at Shintaro, Grief-Bringer terrorized the Geckles and Munce in the Dungeons of Shintaro years ago until it was killed by Lilly. However, Grief-Bringer was later resurrected by Vangelis after he heard that the ninja were convincing the Munce and Geckles to have a truce. Once he was resurrected, Grief-Bringer helped Vangelis by fighting off the ninja in Episodes 155, 157, and 160. While Cole, Wu, Vania, and the Upply were traveling to the Heart of the Mountain, they came across the Lava Monster and battled it in Episodes 154, 156, and 158. Additionally, Geckles and Munce are presented as villains in the sets. However, the show depicts them as tribes warring against each other, yet mutually opposed to the Skull Sorcerer.
