All we know is that ‘WICKED is good’ – so they keep saying. Just like The Maze Runner, I read this second book in two days. It wasn’t because it was young adult and therefore an easy read but because I didn’t want to stop reading. This isn’t the kind of book you can just lightly place on the coffee table and walk away. By age 60, that same person would be expected to know about 48,000 words, based on the assumption that people learn a new word every two days. Support your local economy by purchasing The Scorch Trials by James Dashner from a locally owned book store. Follow Me On GoodReads: This bundle contains novel studies for The Maze Runner, Scorch Trials, and The Death Cure by James Dashner. He had no memory of how he got there or who he was – except for his name. It was the same for the other boys who were already there. A new boy was delivered in the lift each month. But Thomas was the last boy to be delivered and the day after he arrived, the first girl, Teresa, was dumped into the Glade. With help from Thomas and Teresa, the Gladers finally figured out how to escape the stone maze which surrounded the Glade, but not without heavy casualties. Sixty boys began the adventure in book one. At the start of The Scorch Trials, only twenty boys remained. On the other hand, the lack of resolution is driving me to read the third book which is already purchased and on my bedside table. Not too slow, not too fast I guess. The product includes chapter summaries, specific questions, open-ended questions, vocabulary words, and answer key. But it was only another trick employed by WICKED. They had one more deadly test to pass, and it was going to be much more difficult than their Glade escape. His explanation was concise but unyielding in necessary details. The English vocabulary test consists of 67 real words and 33 nonwords. The nonwords consist of letter sequences that look like real words, but they are not. In the weekend after the TV exposure, more than 300,000 Dutch speakers took the test. The world had been ravaged by sun flares and much of the land around the equatorial regions of the earth had been burned to a wasteland. Meanwhile, Teresa was placed with the girls from Group B, the surviving Gladers from a different maze. They were also instructed to participate in a new test, but not the same one. They had a different objective. Teresa was gone, but someone new had taken her place. A boy named Aris. According to Aris, he had been in a different Glade and while Teresa was the only girl in their group of boys, Aris had been the only boy in a group of girls. Like Thomas and Teresa, Aris had a telepathic connection with a girl named Rachel, but she had been killed during the escape. It was during this time of revelations when all of the boys found tattoos on their necks that weren’t there the day before. Each boy’s tattoo read his name, subject number and role description. On Minho’s neck, for example – it said “The Leader”. But on Thomas’s neck – it said, “To be killed by group B”. To ensure their complete cooperation, WICKED purposely infected all of them with the Flare. Their only hope for survival is making it to the Safe Zone in time to receive the cure. Although the Gladers are far away from the deadly planned environment of the Glade, new horrors which aren’t invented by WICKED await them. In the Glade, they had to face semi-organic blob-like monsters with blades and mechanical saws which would give chase and kill or poison. And then while the Gladers decided if they should enter the Scorch or not, WICKED chased them out into the open using a lethal liquid metal weapon that would burn and remove heads. But once they were in the open Scorch, WICKED no longer needed to send out their invented sci-fi variables. The new dangers in the open Scorch were just as intense and insidious. Flesh-eating madmen, dry storms with thunderous explosions that rained around the Gladers like heavy artillery fire, thirst and hunger. The one variable WICKED did send into play was Group B – the girls. I super love my rubber pumps. Perfume quizzes take into account what scents you like, what type of personality you have as well as the kind of lifestyle you have to help you decide what you need. Be daring, be bold and experiment with perfume. Especially for Thomas, who was still seething after the murder of his best friend, Chuck. In my opinion, the first book was better. This book was just as fast, just as enjoyable. However, the reader is stuck at the exact same conclusion found at the end of the first book. Nothing has changed except for a few relationships (and, of course, the number of surviving Gladers). We seem to have the same amount of information as we did at the end of the first book. It was the same story told in a different way, with no new details to gauge an opinion upon. We know that WICKED has a role to play in saving humanity and that the Gladers knew about it before going in, but nothing else. Excellent resource for teachers or aides doing guided reading or a novel study. They're light and can be thrown handy on enemies. But according to the Gladers (and the reader), this just isn’t the case – understandably so. Is it propaganda for the Gladers or the reader? Before you checkout with a perfume do an online search and read other people’s experiences, i.e., bloggers or perfume enthusiasts/experts.
