Jesus keeps me close to the cross a precious fountain frees us a flow of healing flows from the mountain of calvary in the cross, my glory is on the cross until my abducted soul will find rest beyond the river near the cross a soul tremble love and mercy has found me there the bright and morning star shed it's rays around me in the cross, my glory is on the cross until my soul is found rest in 1869, fanny crosby was shown a song by William Doane, for which he wrote this text. the text and the song were published together in bright jewels for Sunday school in 1869. crosby wrote four stanzas and a chorus, which most hymns kept. The fourth stanza ("Near the cross i'll watch and wait") is occasionally omitted. the first line of each stanza contains the phrase “near the cross”, underlining the value of the redemptive work of Christ. each room has a slightly different look of the main theme. the first stanza describes redemption through the blood of Jesus, and the second, the necessity of humanity for salvation. the third stanza is a prayer that the Christian always remembers the love of God as shown on the cross, and the fourth one waits for heaven. tune: the song for this hymn was actually written before the text, but was called after the text, near the cross. William h. doane, who often collaborated with crosby, is the composer. He wrote the song in 1869 and was first published with the lyrics in bright jewels. the strofa and the chorus are in two sentences each, clearly marked by the long final notes. This song should be sung at a moderate pace. if it is too fast, it sounds like a dance, which is not appropriate to the theme of the text, but an excessively slow time is depressing, while the text gives hope. When/Why/How: this hymn is more suitable for Lent or Holy Week. This anthem is perfect for a contemporary or mixed service of worship, as it fits well modern songs such as “The power of the cross”, as in choral agreements “Near the Cross”, or “Keep me near the Cross”, both can be accompanied by solo piano or with optional tools. It could also be oato as instrumental music that precedes communion, as in a chord agreement like “Near the Cross”. tiffany shomsky, Hymnary.org page 2 < back to the near the cross authority page (celebration 319)PowerPoint download files from digital songs and Hymns$2.99* this song is a powerpoint presentation with notes and texts, suitable for projection. * each song comes in 15 different formats. Sources: The Cyber Hymnal (The Salvation Army, Songs and Music, 1922 (399) How many of us can sing heart the words of the song that begins â Jesus, keep me near the cross? â â near the crosses, more than a song, it's an essential prayer for all Christians. Too many of us have an incomplete understanding of what happened when Jesus willingly embraced the Cross and died on it. "Near the Cross" was written by Fanny J. Crosby (1820â 1915) Throughout her life, she wrote 8,500 gospel songs. Crosby is blind went to 6 weeks old, but she began to show her talent with her 6 years old when she started writing lyrics. Later she became a teacher at the New York School for the Blind, where she was a student. A friend of many presidents, Crosby became one of the most important supporters of the cause of the blind in the United States. The texts of her have been set for the compositions of some of the most important composers of gospel songs of the day including William Bradbury, William Doane and Ira Sankey. Crosby compound under a number of aliases. She married the blind musician Alexander Van Alstyne. Although she is known as Fanny Crosby, British anthems identify it as Frances Van Alstyne, the name she married her. This song has appeared for the first time in the collection Bright Jewels (1869), compiled by Bradbury, Doane, W.F Sherwin and Chester G. Allen. As was common in the hymn he wrote in those days, Doane, who wrote the music and then gave it to Fanny Crosby to add text. How did Crosby several times, the text of this hymn was written to fit the music, which then took the name from the text. The song, written by William Doane, uses a rhythm composed with a very harmonic structure Doane, who often signed his name as W. Howard, was one of Fanny Crosby's most important collaborators for providing songs to accompany his texts. Carlton R. Young notes: “It’s one of many texts fromwhich combines vivid images and powerful biblical and evangelical metaphors: the cross, a fountain of healing flows, free grace, the daily walk of faith, God pursuing love and mercy, Jesus, the lamb of God, beyond the river of death , Paradise with its golden roads and rested for reappropriated postal souls. "I can ever boast except in the Cross of Jesus Christ our Lord. Ã ¢ â,¬" Gal. 6: 14th major theme of the refrain is "the glory of the cross." It is a common metaphor of the romantic era style hymn. The Cross, a place where the agony of this life on earth and the perfect joy of paradise meet, is a kind of spiritual altar to which we could approach for refuge and comfort. From it flows a "precious fountain". This is a reference perhaps borrowed from the XVIII century poet Cowyer William and his hymn Ã ¢ â,¬ "there is a fountain full of flood." The Ctological theme of Ã ¢ â,¬ "Ã" Net the cross, captures the hope and joy of the sky which is as characteristic of the hymns of Crosby: ", my awakened soul will find rest beyond the river." Although the cross was a cruel punishment tool and the torture of the Romans mainly, to Christians, the Cross is a source of Ã ¢ â,¬ "flow of object flow" and a place where Ã ¢ â,¬ Ã ¢ Â , ¬ Å "Love and Misericordia found me" two). Room Three invites us to meditate on the image of the Cross, Ã ¢ â,¬ Å "Bring its scenes in front of me" .â € Å'shadowÃ ¢ Â, ¬ of the Cross reminds us to walk in the shadow of the cross daily, take our cross and follow Christ (Luke 9:23). This image is evocative of another romantic age poet, Elizabeth C. Clephane, who in 1872 wrote "Ã ¢ â,¬ Å" Benaquo the cross of Jesus.Ã‚Â »is said that the famous evangelist Dwight L. Moody He asked Crosby the following question towards the end of his life: Ã ¢ â,¬ "if I could only have a desire granted, what would it be? Ã‚Â »Moody expected you to ask for a view. Recognizing this, it is said that he replied, Ã ¢ â,¬ "if I could have a wish, I wish I could continue not to blind the rest of my life." Moody was reported back and asked, Ã ¢ â,¬ Å "How can you say that?" It was said that Crosby had responded, Ã ¢ â,¬ "because, after being blind for all these years, the first face I want to see now is the face of Jesus.ã, Â »JESON.Ã‚Â»
